

New Song Values and Ministry Aims

Values:

INTEGRITY

We believe in the consistency of values, principles, actions and outcomes. As such, New Song is committed to being a trustworthy entity that maintains high standards of quality, accountability, and truthfulness with an aim to respect individuals and authorities as we fulfill God's calling.

INTENTIONALITY

We believe that positive impact, of any kind or size, is rarely the result of happenstance. As we stay in step with the Spirit, New Song is committed to being thoughtful and deliberate with all of our internal and external planning, interactions and activities.

INSPIRATION

We believe that inspiration is what precedes beneficial and lasting life change. We believe in order to inspire others we must remain inspired ourselves. We also believe our responsibility is not only to people that directly receive our services, but society as a whole. As such, New Song is committed to remain inspired in our work — singing our own new song — as we inspire individuals, families, communities and society.

INTERDEPENDENCE

We believe the best outcomes are born from collaboration. Whether it's East and West, para-church ministries and The Church, or a group of co-workers with differing roles, God has designed us to be better together as one Body with many members.

IDENTITY

We believe people are a wondrously complex make-up of body, soul and spirit. All humanity, whether acknowledged or not, shares a common identity of being made in the image of God. All Christians, whether experienced or not, share a common identity in the person of Jesus. Far from viewing individuals as the sum total of their successes and failures, titles and character traits, we see them at their purest and call them to live as such.

Ministry Aims:

- Seed planting among unbelievers
- Discipleship among believers
